NEW BOARD MEMBERS FOR SA TOURISM INDUSTRY COUNCIL

The South Australian Tourism Industry Council (SATIC), the peak industry body for tourism in South Australia, has recently announced the reappointment of Duncan MacKenzie as the Chairman of its Board.

Mr MacKenzie has a strong background in senior management across a number of industries and most recently as the Chairman of Ecotourism Australia and Birds Australia Gluepot Reserve, where he was responsible for taking a marginal sheep station and turning it into an award-winning conservation reserve of international standing.

SATIC also announced the appointment of three new Board members, all of whom bring a diverse range of industry experience and skills to the Board:

- Stuart Livingstone, Chief Executive Officer of the Caravan & Camping Industries Association of South Australia
- Brendon Meppem, General Manager of the Crowne Plaza Adelaide
- Sally Neville, Chief Executive Officer of Restaurant & Catering SA

SATIC is governed by an elected Board who represent its member's interests.

The Board's role is to plan and establish policies that are consistent with and reinforce the values and mission of SATIC, which is to engage, represent, strengthen and empower the South Australian tourism industry.

SATIC would also like to thank outgoing Board members Jenice Wheeler (TAFESA) and Vicki Beard (formerly Adventure Tours Australia) for their contribution over the past two years.
